All of us, from time to time, struggle with health issues, and this is an asset for you, if weight loss or weight loss related issues are affecting you (or a family member) now, or in the future.

Those extra pounds can put us at risk for a number of diseases and conditions including heart disease, diabetes, high blood pressure, cancer, stroke, gallbladder disease, osteoarthritis, high cholesterol, sleep apnea, gallstones, depression, and asthma. The risk of developing these diseases is even higher when weight is concentrated near the waist (belly fat). Plus, it's proven that being at a healthy weight improves our outlook and energy level.
